Century ITT Students Score Tops in Minnesota in Cisco Competition

Century College students Pam Sebesta of Maplewood and Cory Degerstrom of North Branch scored tops in Minnesota on the Cisco NetRiders Challenge, a national competition.

Students had to complete 100 questions in 60 minutes on the topic of configuring computer networks. A second part of the test involved installing a “virtual” network system while being videotaped for an hour and a half.

Cisco is the nation’s leading producer of hardware and software networking equipment.

Both Sebesta and Degerstrom plan to graduate from Century’s Information and Telecommunication Technology program in May 2011. Both plan to pursue careers in computer networking.
