Century College Presents The Diviners Starting Oct. 14

Century College Theatre Department's fall production of The Diviners, an absorbing drama by Jim Leonard Jr. about a disturbed young man and his friendship with a disenchanted preacher in the 1930s, will be presented over two weekends in October.

Performances will be Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. on Oct.14 and 15, and also Oct. 21 and 22.

Sunday matinees will be performed on Oct. 16 and 23 at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $8 for patrons 18 years and older. Century students are free with Century ID. Patrons 17 and younger also are free. Patrons 55 and older and Century staff are $5. This performance will be enjoyed best by older children and adults. Tickets are available one hour before show time in the theatre lobby.

The Diviners is a fascinating story that bristles with psychological undercurrents and a hint of Greek Tragedy. Set in rural Indiana in the early 1930s, the drama tells the story of a young man named Buddy whose mother died while trying to save him from drowning. Ironically, Buddy has developed an uncanny ability to find water for his drought-besieged farm community.

When a disillusioned preacher comes to the farm seeking food and a job, a unique bond develops between Buddy and the preacher. Drama ensues when the preacher's efforts to help Buddy produce a chain of events that involve the entire community.
