Century Chamber Singers Perform December 3

The Century College Chamber Singers, a group formed last spring to give choir members additional opportunities to perform a challenging repertoire, have scheduled three concerts in the community on Saturday, Dec. 3. All concerts are free and open to the public.

First performance: Lyngblomsten Care Center, 1415 Almond Ave., St. Paul, 9:30 am.

Second performance: Woodbury Estates, 2825 Woodlane Drive, Woodbury, 11:15 am.

Third performance: Timber Hills, 6307 Burnham Circle, Inver Grove Heights, at 1:30 pm.

On campus, the Chamber Singers are performing Monday, Dec. 5, in the Nest from 2:30 to 3 p.m., and as part of the Choir's performance on Friday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m. in the West Campus Theater.

The Chamber Singers, under the direction of Jocelyn Kalajian, are part of the Century College choir program. The group's performances include music with a wide variety of styles from many time periods.

This year's Chamber Singers are soprano - Blanca Frappier, Kelsey Letourneau and Veronica Mulvey; alto - Rachel Dietz, Deb Nelson and Alia Russell; tenor - Nathan Campbell, Tim Davis, Maurice Manton and Erik Schelter; bass - Brian Bartsch, David Boyce, Walter Cogswell and An Phan.
